FALSE 9 LINK UP PLAY TO ATTACK

51-P8 | WAVE

ORGANISATION

- This wave-of-play practice takes place in a 40 by 30-yard area and focuses on exploiting space in the final third through false 9 link play and wide runs in behind.
- The setup includes two goals with goalkeepers, coaches positioned with spare balls, and 4 teams of 3 players split into attacking units made up of a false 9 and two wide strikers.
- To begin, the coaches passes to the false 9 who drops into the central zone to receive. They must combine with their teammates to finish the attack.
- After the first 3 have attacked, the next three players will be waiting to receive a ball to attack the opposite goal. The initial 3 attackers must now sprint back to recover to defend the goal.
- When the action ends, a new wave immediately starts in the opposite direction, with the attackers transiting to defend the opposite goal.

KEY COACHING POINTS SUMMARY

- False 9 must receive on the half turn to attack quickly
- Wide players time runs - exploit space in behind defenders
- Finish early when space is available - act quickly in the final 3rd
- Transition fast from attack to defend - recover immediately
- Scans to see recovering defenders - don't panic in possession

PROGRESSION 1

If attackers score with their 1st attack, they are rewarded with a second ball to attack a now organised defensive three, getting players used to attacking under different defensive pressure.

PROGRESSION 2

Add mannequins for the striker to drop between on the coach's call. The false 9 must react to "left," "right," or "centre" instructions, dropping into space to receive and create attacking opportunities.
